

Saskatchewan Report

All clubs have completed their dance seasons. Across the province, there were 80 beginner square dancers which is promising for rebuilding clubs after the impact of Covid. This weekend, many square and round dancers are attending the annual Cypress Funstitute in the Cypress Hills Provincial Park. In June, the long running Danceland weekend at Manitou Lake attracts square and round dancers from all three Prairie Provinces. This year, the Saskatchewan Square and Round Dance Federation weekend will take place the last weekend in October at Lloydminster. The timing is a departure from previous years when the Federation met the first weekend in November. A motion at last year's AGM gave the organizing zone the flexibility to host the event at an earlier date, in part because weather has been an issue for dancers travelling to the event.
